House of Representatives Runs Wild on the Adoption of the Cuban Resolution.

Scenes of Disorder Unprecedented in its History Witnessed During the Session Wednesday

All Debate and Amendments Cut Off and Resolution Rushed Through by Vote of 322 to 19--Senate Adjourned Without Action on Even More Belligerent Resolution--Almost Unparalleled Raging in the House--Missiles Thrown and Personal Combats Engaged in--A Memorable Day at National Capital.

WASHINGTON, April 13. (AP)—The House of Representatives today passed a resolution authorizing the President to use military force to protect American citizens and property in Cuba, and to prevent the export of arms and munitions to that island. The vote was 322 to 19. The resolution was introduced by Representative Charles McNary (R-Or.) and was passed by a vote of 322 to 19. The House adjourned at 11:30 p.m. after a session of more than 12 hours. The Senate adjourned at 10:30 p.m. after a session of more than 10 hours. Two questions with common-sense answers. "How long should a man's legs be," somebody asked Abraham Lincoln, and he said, "Long enough to reach from his body to the ground." "By not working so hard," she said, "By doing all my washing and cleaning with Pearl." "How can you take housework so easy," somebody asked a bright little woman.

OPEN SALOONS.

Law Violated in Alaska.

Washington, April 13. Responding to a resolution of inquiry in regard to the enforcement of the liquor law in Alaska, Secretary Gage sent a statement to the Senate in which he says that notwith- standing the efforts of the department it is still a fact that the law is openly vio- lated. It has he says, been reported to the department that 40 saloons do open business in Juneau, a town of less than 4,000 inhabitants, while in Sitka, which contains less than 1,000 white inhabi- tants, there are 12 open saloons.

ODD ITEMS.

In Berlin the pawnshop is a royal in- stitution, and is not allowed to make a profit. Its surplus goes to charitable purposes. In the Baltic sea there are more wrecks than in any other place in the world. The average throughout the year is one each day. It is said that for communicating with the inhabitants of Mars a flag as large as Ireland and a pole 500 miles long would be needed. In 1695 a tax was imposed on births, the lowest fee being 50 cents. Dukes had to pay over $450. Twenty-five tramps organized a meet- ing in a box car in a suburb of Portland, Ore., and after an animated discussion, dotted with patriotic declarations, re- solved with one accord to offer their services as soldiers in the event of war with Spain, and, further, to endeavor to get all tramps in the country to do like- wise. Persia has not a single railway. Patent needles and pins are made to the number of 175 different varieties. In the announcement of marriages in Spain, the ages of the contracting parties are always given. The largest room in the world under one roof and unbroken by pillars is in St. Petersburg. It is 620 feet long and 120 feet in breadth. Berlin has a service of dinner carts which call at the homes of the work- ingmen and collect lunches to convey to the men at the factories. The most wonderful astronomical pho- tograph in the world is that which has re- cently been prepared by London, Berlin and Parisian astronomers. It shows at least 65,000,000 stars. Lobsters can smell as well as animals that live upon the land. A piece of de- cayed meat suspended in the water in the locality where lobsters are abundant will soon be completely surrounded by a greedy, lighting crowd. It is not an uncommon thing, accord- ing to a traveler in Russia, to meet a herd of cows or oxen in certain parts of that country wearing blue glasses, to counteract the effects caused by the re- flection of the snow in winter time. Some of the safe deposit companies de- vote apartments to the exclusive recep- tion of our garments, fur coats, etc. They are kept in rooms the temperature of which is kept so low that destructive insects and their germs perish from the cold. The steam engine is covered by 8237 patents. The skins of animals were the earliest forms of money. It costs $550,000,000 every week to run the world's railways. The Siamese have a great horror of odd numbers and were never known to put five, seven or 11 windows in a house or temple. The average speed of a carrier pigeon in calm weather is 1210 yards a minute. With a strong wind in the direction of flight, some pigeons have covered 1080 yards a minute. If a member of the Russian imperial family lives outside the country for more than a quarter of the year his income is cut down very considerably. In proportion to its size a fly walks 13 times as fast as a man can run. After roaming around the world for several years J. S. Jacobs of Lincoln, Ky., returned to his native place and shortly after died. His father has had a curious monument placed over the young man's grave. It consists of a stone cut in the shape of an old-fash- ioned satchel. On one side is the name of the deceased and on the other the words: "Here is where he stopped last."

An apron is the royal standard of Persia.

Gos, a Persian, who was a blacksmith by trade, raised a revolt which proved successful, and his leather apron, covered with jewels, is still borne in the van of Persian armies.

THURSDAY, APRIL 14, 1898.

STATE OF MAINE.

A FAST DAY PROCLAMATION.

In deference to the practice of the early settlers of New England, and following a precedent that has obtained ever since, the Whig and Courier, in the name of the State, and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council, do hereby THURSDAY, the 20th Day of April.

In the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight, as a day of

FASTING AND PRAYER.

It is fitting that this sacred day should be observed, and that the people of this State should be reminded of the duty which they owe to God and to their fellow-men, and that they should be encouraged to practice the virtues of fasting and prayer, and to abstain from all unnecessary eating and drinking, and to devote the day to the service of God and to the relief of the poor.

Given at the Executive Chamber, in Augusta, this twentieth day of April, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight, the hundred and twenty-second year of the State of Maine.

LLEWELLYN POWERS,
By the Governor.

BYRON BOND, Secretary of State.

It was determined at the outset to have the grand jury composed of men who would view the case fairly and impartially.

In alluding to the case, when presenting the names of 25 citizens who were ready to testify as to the ringleaders or members of the murderous mob, Judge Powell said impressively: "As your client judges a charge that the men composing that mob are murderers and under your oath you are bound to indict them for murder." Surely after such an explicit and direct charge, it is hardly to be expected that the jury will refuse to find a bill against these members of a mob who have already been identified and who are involved by the testimony presented to the jury.

Even if the grand jury should fail to do its duty, it is understood that the matter will not end there. In case of failure to indict, Judge Powell proposes, with the assistance of the district attorney, to bring cases against individual members of the mob and to bind the accused over to the next term of the district court without trial. By his vigorous and determined determination he has already aroused such public sentiment that it seems almost certain that hereafter in this section of the country lynching will be almost entirely abandoned. The example set by Judge Powell is marked contrast with the recent foolish and unbecomingly delinquent of a Washington judge, whether delivered in public or in private, in favor of lynching in the case of a brutal and hardened citizen of the District of Columbia.

BILLS FOR RE-ORGANIZATION.

Washington, April 13. Senators Proctor and Sewall introduced bills for the re-organization of the line of the army. Both bills are on the same lines and provide that the army shall consist of two regiments of cavalry, seven regiments of artillery, a battalion of engineers and 25 regiments of infantry. The total enlisted men in the army is restricted to 30,000 in time of peace, but an increase is provided for in war by enlarging the infantry companies to 150 men each.

SENATOR THURSTON INTRO- DUCES A BILL.

Mr. L. F. Brand, of Augusta, was registered at the Bangor House yesterday.

HOLDS ITS GROUND.

This Is Testimony from Everywhere As Well As From Bangor.

Can this be so? Is it true? Are the facts garbled? Is the truth distorted? These are questions which every man and woman in Bangor suffering the torture of backache ask as they read the published accounts in newspapers about medicines which claim to cure it. What- ever the conclusions arrived at touching the truth of these cures are, he can't hedge or flinch from or disavow the fol- lowing, for it took place in Bangor and the experiences are those of a representa- tive citizen.

A. V. Lee of No. 4 Clinton street, says: "I endorse the claims made for Doan's Kidney Pills. I suffered bon- stantly for six months with a dull, aching pain when I stooped or brought any extra strain on the back. A urinary difficulty or weakness accompanied this and in spite of all my efforts I could not get rid of it. Shortly after I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at Ara. Warren's drug store, both the pain and the urinary weakness left me, and as I took nothing else, to Doan's Kidney Pills I must give the credit. I am only too pleased to recommend such a valu- able remedy."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all dealers, price 50 cents. Sent by Post- ter-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

PRACTICAL DECLARATION WAR

of the United States, involving the destruction of the lives and property of many of our citizens, entailing the expenditure of millions of money in patrolling the coast and in the maintenance of our neutrality, and that

Whereas, this long series of losses, injuries and burdens for which Spain is responsible has culminated in the destruction of the United States battleship, Maine in the harbor of Havana and in the death of 260 of our seamen.

Resolved, etc., That the President is hereby authorized and directed to intervene at once to stop the war in Cuba to the end and with the purpose of securing permanent peace and order there and establishing by the free action of the people thereof a stable and independent government of their own in the island of Cuba; and the President is hereby authorized and empowered to use the land and naval forces of the United States to execute the purpose of this resolution.

The substitute resolution was defeated 147 yeas, 100 nays, 100 abstentions.

Mr. Spooner then moved to recommend with instructions to report back an amendment recognizing the independence of Cuba, which was defeated 147 yeas, 100 nays, 100 abstentions.

officers and crew, while on a friendly visit in the harbor of Havana, and cannot longer be endured, as has been set forth by the President of the United States in his message to Congress on April 11, 1898, upon which the action of Congress was invited; therefore:

Resolved—First—That the people of Cuba are and of right ought to be free and independent.

Second—That it is the duty of the United States to demand and the government of the United States does hereby demand that the government of Spain at once relinquish its authority and government in the island of Cuba and withdraw its land and naval forces from Cuba and Cuban waters.

Third—That the President of the United States be and he hereby is directed and empowered to use the entire land and naval forces of the United States, to call into the actual service of the United States to such extent as may be necessary to carry these resolutions into effect.

The report of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations on the Cuban situation was made by Senator Davis chairman of the committee, and was a very thorough review of the entire situation and a strong presentation of the facts which has led the committee to its conclusions.

The report takes up the Maine disaster, the leading topic for consideration, the findings into that question in its first sentence, which is as follows:

"The destruction of the U. S. battleship Maine, of two of her officers and 261 of her crew in the harbor of Havana on the night of Feb. 15, 1898, excited to an unprecedented degree the compassion and resentment of the American people."

The resolution to be passed here, declared Mr. Foraker, would force Spain either to abdicate the island of Cuba or give battle. If Spain should resort to the abandonment of the island, then he had no doubt the United States would leave the war to a successful and triumphant conclusion. But as Spain was to be defeated, it was to be defeated in history that he was to have it go down in history that he was waiting in place and manhood.

The time for diplomacy had passed and the time for action had arrived. Let all rally as one man around the flag and carry to the end our glorious victory for freedom and independence in the western hemisphere.

As Mr. Foraker concluded he was warmly congratulated by many senators.

MR. HALE'S SUBSTITUTE.
Mr. Hale offered a substitute for the pending resolution, as follows:

"The United States, in the event of a declaration of war, should not be bound by the provisions of the Teller Amendment, which declares that the United States will not annex Cuba, but should be free to annex Cuba if it should so desire."

Mr. Hale's substitute was defeated 147 yeas, 100 nays, 100 abstentions.

of the United States and that of the Cuban republic differed from each other materially in the matter of funds derived from the sale of bonds had been employed to hold the Cubans in subjection. He thought, however, that that was a question in which we were not the slightest way interested. Mr. Carter then inquired of Mr. Foraker whether he would have this government which the ephemeral responsibility of Cuban bonds by falling in behind the Gomez government to escape the legitimate consequences of war.

"That investigation had been made," it was concluded with judicial thoroughness and deliberation. The difficulty of demonstrating by conclusive proof the efficient power of the Gomez government was the usual one of exposing plotted and mysterious crimes. No such difficulty, however, obscures its official and responsible cause.

The committee says that the explosion itself of the Maine was linked with a series of circumstances, "which cannot in reason be disconnected from it."

In making up the more general subjects the committee expresses the opinion that "The United States ought at once to recognize the independence of the people of Cuba and the United States ought to the end that the war and its manifold atrocities shall cease, and that such independence shall be a settled political fact at the earliest possible moment by the establishment by the free action of the people of Cuba when such action can be had, of a government independent in fact and form."

The committee assumes that the cause of Spain has continually grown weaker, while the cause of the insurgents has grown stronger.

With animus by Spain so plainly apparent that no one can ever plausibly deny its existence, the committee reports for the conclusion to which the investigating mind must come in considering the entire subject of the war, that the United States with that "overpowering" it is the opinion of your committee that the United States should recognize the independence of the Cuban people, and that the United States should be free to annex Cuba if it should so desire."

WASHINGTON, April 13. There was greater activity in both the war and navy departments today than has been the case for over a week, and everything seemed to indicate that the war with Spain will not be postponed many days. Probably the most significant action of the day was the purchase of the St. Paul and St. Louis battleships by the navy. The purchase of the St. Paul and St. Louis is probably the most expensive transaction connected with the war, and it is a sign that the navy is preparing for the war.

There was greater activity in both the war and navy departments today than has been the case for over a week, and everything seemed to indicate that the war with Spain will not be postponed many days. Probably the most significant action of the day was the purchase of the St. Paul and St. Louis battleships by the navy. The purchase of the St. Paul and St. Louis is probably the most expensive transaction connected with the war, and it is a sign that the navy is preparing for the war.
